Free Time Arrived for the Farmer to Protect Bimself by Means of the Ballot—"sound-Money" Pretence of Republicans.

SIOUN CITY, IA., October 9.—The people who got up early to see William J. Bryan would not let bina sleep this morning. They hanged on the windows of his private oar at Marshalltown up to the time he left there, at 1:22 A. On the conclusion of his speech, Mr.

I believe the time has come when the farmer is called upon to defend himself and his family, and his people around him by the use of the ballot."

Back into lowa again, and another speech was given the people at Hawarden, where great enthusiasm was shown. The suggestive name of Canton was that of the next stopping place. Canton is in South Dukota. Major McKinley had friends there, some of them wearing hats of golden hue, and a few shouted for the Republican candidate when Mr. Bryan had concluded his brief remarks.

Seven delegations called upon the candidate, two of which—the East Tennessee Republicans and the ex-Confederate veterans from the and the ex-Confederate veterans from the Shenandoah Valley-arrived before noon. In addition to the activity here, Major McKinley was earabled to hear the shouts and sounds from the great demonstration in Chicago to-day, and the tramp of the hundred thousand marching Republicans was echoed by long-distance telephone in Major McKinley's study and in Mrs. McKinley's room. The telephone company put a direct Chicago wire into the Mckinley house for use to-day, and there are twelve receivers attached to this end of it.

the twelve receivers attached to this end of it.

The first delegation to arrive was that from Knoxville and East Tennessee. There were about 500 Tennessee McKinley Republicans in the party, and they were intusinstic and demonstrative. The processman was Editor William Rute, of Knoxville. Among those in the delegation were the demons of the large blokery tump which Major McKinley received tome time ago from Knox county. Tenn. The candidate to-day made use of the stump for the first time.

The main interest of the day contered in the big delegation of ex-Confederates. They came in three sections, the first of which arrived at half-past 10, and the last at half-past 12. They were met at the station by a large execut of old Union soldiers and a Grand Army of the Republication of Grand Army of the Republication.

"Let's see him?" He made a number of brief speeches. The biggest crowd that heard him was at Onawa, a Populist stronghold.

It was raining hard—a chill, cold rain—when the candidate reached Sloux City, at 10:20 this morning. He was escorted to the big train-shed of the Union Pass.

IT WAS A "FAKE."

That Valley Excursion to McKinley's Home.

Winchester, Va., October 9, 1896. To the Editor of the Dispatch: In an editorial this morning, referring to the so-called ex-Confederate excursion to the so-called ex-Confederate excursion from the Valley of Virginia to Canton, the Baltimore Sun says:

"This is the first time that any large number of southern veterans have indicated their intention to vote for a Republican President."

In the first place, the excursion was a "fake." Of about forty who joined it at this place only three were ex-Confederates, and we may presume that the same proportion held good (or bad, rather) all along the line of the excursion.

In the second place, the Sun departs a long ways from its usual conservation when it interprets the excursion as an indication that those who did go will vote for McKinley. As the party passed through Winchester it made the old town ring with shouts for Eryan. It is just possible that the Hanna managers will find that they have given a cheap and pleasant trip to many of "their friends, the enemy."

The President and his private secretary, Mr. Thurber, reached Washington at 7:40 A. M., after a good night's rest, in a private car, which had been attached to the midnight train from New Yerk. No one accompanied them, and immediately after their breakfast on arrival at the White House, they entered their adjoining, offices, and began the routine of public business. The President never looked better than to-day.

Mrs. Cleveland and the children are expected home on Saturday.

There is no accumulation of business awaiting the President's attention, the routine having been carried on at Gray Gables, as usual. The President's return was so timed as to resume the reaular Friday Cabinet meeting at 11 o'clock to-day. There were three absentees from the meeting—Secretaries Francis. Morton, and Lamont. The acceting to-day was said to be of an informal character. Most of the unfinished business in all the departments represented was canvassed, with a view to leaving as few unsettled questions as possible upon the reassembling of Congress.

So great was the crush on the street that the ambulances and patrol wagons were kept busy all day in removing those who were squeezed into unconsciousness—mostly women and children. Pickpockets took advantage of the large crowd in front of the United States Express office, on Washington street, and started a fight. In the excitement several women were robbed of their purses, and their screams started a panic, during which three or four women fainted, and a number of persons received slight bruises. DEMOCRATIC INNING.

Before the echo of the applause of the multitudes who had witnessed the demonstration for the single gold standard and protection had died out, the organized followers of Bryan from every quarter of the city marched with flaming torches, to stirring music, over very nearly the same route as that followed by their political opponents during the day. Red fire and searchlights added to the attractiveness of the parade, and lent their assistance in stirring up the enthusiasm of the spectators, who looked on from every position of vantage along the line of march. The balcony of the Auditorium annex

The balcony of the Auditorium annex was the reviewing stand for the Democrate parade, and from it Vice-President Adlai E. Stevenson, many other noted Democrats, and United States Senator Henry M. Teller reviewed the marching followers of Bryan and Sewall as they passed. The parade left the Columbus statue, on the Luke front, at 8 P. M. This was done yesterday by the flagship New York, and the battleship Indiana took up the challenge for the race, which came off at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The ten-cared cutters were each manned, and, with a coxwain, were towed down to a stake-boat near the Thimble light. The course was three miles straight away, and back to the flagship. The boats got away well together, the New York's gradually taking the lead, which she held until near the finish. It was not until then that the indiana's coxwain called upon his men, who responded gallantly, and shot their boat ahead, winning by five or six lengths, amid the cheers of the fleet and spectators on shore, and the deafening blast of the siren whisties.

At half-past 3 o'clock the naval officers came ashore with their foot-ball team to try conclusions with a team composed of army officers, and two or three members of the Hampton Club, including Mr. Dick Armstrong. It was soon evident that the teams were very evenly matched, and at the end of the first half neither side had scored a point. Both teams had hosts of friends, who cheered them warmly, but, in spite of all the efforts made the score resulted in a tie—4 to 4.

Later returns make practically no change in the complexion of the Legislature. One notable feature is the fact that the Democrats have carried the Tenth District, which is Watson's district, and is the closest in the State. The result of the October elections seems to insure the election of W.H. Fleming, in this district, and that means a solid Democratic delegation in the lower house of Congress. of Congress.

SPEAKING AND A BIG BARBECUE

B. Mcliwaine Address the Crowd-A Glorious Day for the Democracy.

BLACKSTONE, VA., October 9.-(Special.)-Nearly one thousand people gathered in a tobacco warehouse in this place to-day to listen to speeches by James' Lindsay Gordon, of New York, and Hon. William B. McIlwaine, of Petersburg. The addresses of both of these gentlemen were simply masterly. Sydney P. Epes, our congressional standard-bearer, was chosen chairman of the meeting, and ished and effective effort, and at times he was unable to proceed by reason of of his remarks Mr. Gordon took occasion to pay a magnificent tribute to Hon. John Warwick Daniel, and his complimentary references to Virginia's senior senator called forth the greatest demonstration of the day.

MILWAINE'S SPEECH. Mr. McIlwaine's speech was superb, and it is safe to say that he made many votes it is safe to say that he made many votes for the regular Democratic ticket by his convincing argument in favor of Bryan. Sewall, Epes, and free silver. There was a goodly element of negroes standing upon the outskirts of the body of the audience, and they listened with rapt attention to the remarks of the speakers, and not a few joined in the applause.

A BARBECUE. A BARBECUE.

After the speaking had been concluded a barbecue was served in an adjacent building. All feasted until their appetites were satisfied, and around the feative board free silver and Democratic success were alone the theme of conversation. Not a gold man was in evidence anywhere, for the very truth is that, barring the "cultud alijes," there are not barring the "culled allies," there are not more than a dozen followers of the Bolt-

The Senator expressed himself as greatly pleased with the political outlook, and is confident that Bryan will win his fight.

The "middle-of-the-road" Populist State ticket was filed with the Governor yesno terms could be accepted short of a withdrawal of the Populist State ticket, but that will not now come about. It is believed that all probability of fusion is at an end, but there still remains until next Wednesday for some sort of fusion on the electoral ticket, independently of the State ticket. The "middle-of-the-road" leaders hope, however, to have the straightout set of electoral candidates recognized as the genuine electors.

The Governor set to-day as the time to pass upon the right of the bolting Democrats to use the name, 'National Democrats,' and the head of Jefferson as their emblem.

Fusion in North Carolina.

RALEIGH, N. C., October 9.—The Democratic Campaign (or Central) Committee, clothed with full power, was in session five hours to-day, and then sent a communication to the Populist Central Committee. All this proceeding is characterized by a remarkable degree of secrecy. It was expected that the proposition to be made would cover complete fusion on all tickets, but it is learned that so far it is only for a division of congressmen. Upon pledge that only free-silver congressmen shall be voted for, no special men are named, and the matter now appears to be but the beginning of a long correspondence. Other propositions may be made. Such is the opinion of well-informed people to-night.

Endorsed Fusion.

TARBORO', N. C., October 3.—(Special.)
At a meeting of the Fopulist Executive Committee of Edgecombe county to-day, resolutions were unanimously adopted endorsing the action of the State Central Committee in arranging with the Democratic Committee to-operation upon the State electoral ticket, and urging Fopulists everywhere to give their loyal support to the whole electoral ticket as the best means of securing the vote of North Carolina for William Jennings Bryan for President.

Pusion in Missouri.

ST. LOUIS, October &—After a stormy session, lasting nearly eight hours, the People's Party State Central Committee last night adopted a resolution, giving the Executive Committee pienary power to arrange a fusion with the Democrats on a State ticket, provided the latter would concede to the Populists the offices of Attorney-General and Railroad Commissioner. The vote stood a tie, and Chairman Roselle cast the deciding yote, The acceptance of the proposition is extremely doubtful.

BRYAN'S KENTUCKY VOTE.

After a Careful Canvass a Majority of 15,000 to 30,000 Is Claimed. WASHINGTON, October 2.-A prominent Kentuckian, who has made a tho-rough canvass of his State, has prepared a careful and conservative estimate of Bryan's majority in Kentucky. He bases his estimate on a careful poll of his estimate on a careful poll of the State, having for some time past been carrying on an extensive correspondence with his acquaintances throughout Kentucky. Among his correspondents were Bryan Democrats, gold Democrats, Republicans, and Populists, and, after carefully comparing the statements made in several hundred letters he has figured out closely the vote in each county.

As a result, he chaims that a clear majority of at least 15,000 is shown for Bryan on a most conservative tabulation of the estimates contained in the many letters, while a fairly reasonable estimate will give Bryan twice this majority. The information is given by districts, and in two of these McKinley is conceded a majority—the Fifth and Eleventh. The Fifth is the Louisville District, and here the gold-standard men are strongest. The Republicans do not expect more than 5,000 or 6,000 majority in Louisville, but they are given 7,000, the highest claim made by them. The Eleventh (or Mountsén District) is conceded to the Republicans, and, while it is not believed the majority for McKinley will reach 6,000, he is given 5,000 in the calculation, this being the majority at the last State election, when the mountains poured forth the largest vote in years. A growing silver sentiment in this region will possibly out into the Republican vote, however.

The majority in the First District is estimated at 12,000. In the last Congressional election the Democrats and Populists together cact 24,000 votes, against less than 3,000 for the Republican vanil-dates. As fusion is working perfectly in Kentucky, there is no reason why this combined vote should not give the same majority this year.

New York Dry-Goods Market

NEW YORK, October a.—The week is drawing to a close without any change of moment in the dry-goods market, busi-ness throughout in both staple and fancy lines continuing dull. Slow sales do not mean any lower prices, nowever, and the whole market is in a stupidly steady state.

The total will be about $5,000, which should bring out the full vote in November.

Augusta, Ga,—The Republican rally was long-drawn out. There were about 490 people in the Opera-House, mostly megroes. Atlanta, Ga.—Jack King, president of the Merchants' National Bank, of Rome, Ga., was brought to the city under arrest, charged with embezaling $22,000 from his bank. Atlanta, Ga.—Senator Tillman, of South Carolina, was in the city on his way to Chicago to confer with Senator Jones. When asked to suggest a solution of the Watson-Sewall problem, he said: "I be lieve the problem has been already solved. In those States where the question was most troublesome, it was settled by fusion. In the other States I anticipate no trouble. It would be a happy ending of the whole matter, however, if Mr. Watson would retire."

Washington.—It was announced that a

won would retire."

Wzshington.—It was announced that a shortage of between $15,000 and $16,000 had been found in the accounts of Dr. A. Patterson, the assistant physician at the government hospital for the insane, known as St Elizabeth's Asylum. Later, it was stated that the amount of the shortage had already been made good, and that the matter, which was one with which the government had nothing to do, was closed.

Eyzokiyan—Lawyer Shepard secured

nothing to do, was closed.

Brooklyn.—Lawyer Shepard secured from Justice Clement, in the Supreme Court, an order requiring the Commissioners of Elections to show cause why they should not be required to revise their ruling to the effect that the party styling itself "the National Democratic party" caunot use the word "Democratic" on their ticket, the ground of the ruling being that "National Democratic" is so much like the simple title "Democratic," that it is likely to cause error and confusion. The writ will be argued to-day.

Edinburgh.—Seeaking in the city, Lord to-day.

Edinburgh.—Speaking in the city, Lord Roschery discussed the remedies that had been suggested for the settlement of the Turkish question. Regarding the proposal that Russia should take possession of Constantinople, he said that the late government (his own) had been extremely anxious to arrive at an entente with Russia, and he was still in every way hopeful that a satisfactory agreement between. England and Russia would be reached. He arged the advocates of the proposal, however, to remember the treatment that had been accorded the Poles by the Russians. Moreover, he asked: "How is Great Britain to give to Russia what is not hers?"

It is claimed that a great many colored people are going to vote for Bryan and Sewall, but the party leaders still urge the importance of all Democrats who have not yet registered, hunting up their registrars and having their names entered at once. It is at present impossible to tell what proportion of the voting population remains unregistered. The old poll-books contained between 24,000 and 25,000 names, and a careful estimate is that there are yet several thousand duly qualified white voters who have not yet re-registered.

There were 2,164 names registered white reday—1,051 white, and 32 colored. The appended table shows the number registered in each precinct yeaterday. And the total registration for the five days:
